Over Five Thousand Visitors of Note, Exclusive of the Delegates

From the Protestant Countries of Europe and the Protestant Pri ces of Germany Present-A Homage Ceremony and a Large Procession.

BERLIN, Nov. L.-Ceremonies attended with unusual splendor marked Monday the rededication of the Lutheran Memorial church at Wittenberg, and the restoration of which at the expense of Emperor William has just been completed. Over five thousand visitors of to make the suits aft r he was disnote, exclusive of the delegates from | charged. the Protestant countries of Europe and the Protestant princes of Germany, are being entertained in the little town. The duke of York, who is the personal representative of Queen Victoria, is the guest of the emperor. There were pre-liminary s ervices in the city churches at 6 o'clock, and which were attended by large congregations. At 10 o'clock the emperor, with the foreign delegates and the princes of Germany, together with the municipal officials, assembled in the Markt platz, where a homage ceremony was conducted. A procession was then formed, and, headed by a detachment of mounted troops, proceeded through the town to the memorial chapel. The emperor and most of the princes were on horseback, the municipal officials followed on foot, while not less than eighty carriages were required for the visitors from abroad. When the edifice was reached the troops formed in double line, through which the guests passed, entering the sacred edifice through the door to which the renowned reformer nailed his celebrated theses against the doctrine of indulgences. Peans of praise were trumpeted from the steeple of the church as the procession approached, and as the emperor crossed the threshold of the church the organ and trumpeters united in rendering the solemn but stirring strains of "Ein Feste Burg." The services were impressive and of unusual length, and at the conclusion the procession reformed and proceeded to the house in which Luther once made his home. Here the emperor inscribed his name in the visitor's album, and the hundreds of Protestants followed his example. During the homage ceremony in the Markt platz the emperor read the act restoring the building to public worship and also made a speech. In the afternoon there was a grand historical procession portraying incidents in the life of the reformer and other men of his time. Numerous balls, fetes and banquets took place at night. The ceremonies will continue for several

GEN. SNOWDEN'S TRIAL Private Jacobs Tells What Iams Said

While Hanging. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 1.—The case of ex-Private W. L. Iams against Col. Streator et. al., was continued Monday morning. Mai.-Gen. George R. Snowdon appeared in the court room for the first time since the opening of the trial. He was naturally the object of a great amount of interest, not alone for his connection with the case, but for his prominence as commander of the state army which restored civil government at Homestead after the riots had given way to mob rule.

Ex-private Iams was put on the stand and asked where he performed the picket duty on the night before he went to sleep. He was not positive that he did perform picket duty on the night before he went to sleep. On cross examination he said he had been advised

PRIVATE IAMS.

(After receiving punishment.) Frank Jacob was the next witness for the prosecution. He was a private of company K, tenth regiment. He saw Iams in the guard house while on duty. He also saw Iams hung up by the thumbs. He was hanging to the ridge pole of a tent. His thumbs were tied by a loop knot. The tips of lams toes alone were on the ground. Iams was spitting tobacco juice. The officer of the day gave the chew. Iams asked for it. Almost immediately before Iams was cut down Col. Streator said to the doctors that if the prisoner hung longer, it might injure him physically. When Iams was cut down he sank to the ground. Witness did not hear lams say: "When Col. Streator got through amusing himself he could cut him

He had heard Iams say: "If Streater expects me to take back what I said he could cut me down dead."

CHOLERA NOT FATAL.

Dr. Elmer Tells About the Popular Misconception of the Disease.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 .- In an intervie w, Dr. Elmer of Chicago, who arrived in this city on Friday from Hamburg and is now a guest at the hotel Savoy, says: "Cholera is not a fatal disease. who regard the lesson of sanitary living are not in danger of contracting the disease. The horror of this disease as entertained by the people is largely produced by a mistaken conception of the nature and progress of cholera and caught an antagonist of the immersionby the knowledge that, until recently, treatment has not been the mercy of the infuriated beast until satisfactory. Could the lesson be genneighbors came to his rescue. This is erally taught and understood that cholthe first animal of its kind seen in this era is a filth disease and localized in the first few days to the bowels, and further, could they be made to see that if the bowels were cleansed of the filth tion of his friends that he should at the beginning of the attack, would stick to his rights. He was shoved it not go very far to relieve the black and horrid impression of certain death now universally existing in the public mind, both in Europe and America? When worrying and wearying torture, produced by an impending danger is lifted, it will be easier to subdue and manage the epidemic.

"It will be easier to subdue and manage an epidemic. Many extreme and, indeed, unscientific measures frequently are demanded to satisfy the fearstricken, even though they be remotely separated from the ground of the epidemic."

In order to be able to teach the lesson that cholers is not a fatal disease, the experiments were made as soon as the doctor could reach St. Petersburg, with results that were satisfactory.

CHURCH SCENE.

An Uproarious Prayer-Meeting in Spurgeon's Tabernacle.

A Spurgeonite Demands That Dr. Pierson Announce His Belief,

And Notwithstanding Loud Protests He Will Not Subside-As Effort is Then Made to Put Him Out, and a Small Riot Instantly Ensues.

LONDON, Nov. 1 .- Rev. Dr. Pierson, of Philadelphia, presided over an uproarous prayer meeting at Spurgeon's tabernacle, Monday evening.

This was Dr. Pierson's first appearance in his pastoral capacity since his return from the states, and at first there was every prospect that he would be cordially received. Numerous church officials shook hands with him before the services began, and when he stepped forward to open the meeting many worshipers applauded him. There were slight symptoms of dissent from the rear of the room, however, to indicate that the partisans of James Spurgeon and Thos. Spurgeon had not left the meeting entirely in the hands of the Piersonites. While Dr. Pierson read the Bible and prayed all was quiet, but no sooner was the hymn after the scriptural reading finished than an adherent of Thomas Spurgeon rose and called out: "Dr. Pierson, like many other members, I would like to know whether you are a believer in baptismal immersion?"

A woman next to the questioner, and evidently his wife, tried to pull him down to his sent, but he stood his ground and waited for Dr. Pierson's answer. Dr. Pierson's questioner raised his voice and began to repeat his inquiry. Men in all parts of the room shouted protests against his conduct, and those near him tried to pacify him. In the confusion, a woman stepped out into the aisle, and in shrill tones begged the malcontent to withdraw his inquiry, and let the meeting proceed. This proposal was received with the approval of everybody except a smaller body of Spurgeonites. By this time the questioner had shaken off his wife and several other advisors who had interrupted him, and again called for Dr. Pierson's convictions as to immersion.

Dr. Pierson had no opportunity to answer, however, for an uproar followed immediately. Twenty or thirty men hastened to the questioner's seat, amid cries of "Put him out!" "Leave the meeting!" "You are no Christian!" etc. Several men who had started to eject the immersionist ordered him out of the building. He answered that he had as good a right to remain there as any member, and he was ready to defend it. Two men seized him by the arms, and half a dozen more pushed and pulled until they got him into the aisle. There the immersionist made a stand, braced himself, and partially freed himself with a violent struggle, in which two members were thrown down on their knees and three seats were upset.

The Spurgeonites shouted "shame," and one of them, a middle-aged woman, ist by the arm and screamed at him: 'Are you a Christian? Do you know how dreadful it is for Christians to behave like this ?"

During the last struggle the immersionist lost his wind, and he was unable longer to obey the exhortadown the aisle, thrust out, and the door was closed behind him. Many women were sobbing hysterically when the struggle was ended, and some time passed before permanent quiet was restored. Dr. Pierson, who was flushed and nervous while the immersionist was being ejected, recovered his self-possession quickly, and began an address concerning his plans for the next ten months. He said he meant to make hot work for the devil in the Tabernacle this winter.

OHIO CLAIMANTS.

A Suit Filed by Them for 700,000 Acres of Laud in Colorado. DENVER, Col., Nov. 1 .- A claim has just been filed in the U. S. court of private land claims at Santa Fe, N. M., which involves a tract of land thirtythree miles square in the southwest corner of Colorado, claiming that the grant was made to Senor Corpus Christi by the king of Spain 214 years ago. The plaintiffs are Benj. Hodges and several relatives, all of whom reside in the neighborhood of Rockford, O. They are great-grandchildren of the anernment and all pearsons laying claim to any part or parcels of the land are the defendants. The claim embraces almost the whole of Montezuma county, an area of nearly 700,000 acres, considerably greater than the area of the state of Rhode Island. The county now has 1,528 inhabitants, and Cortez, its largest town, has 332 people. In Dolores precinct are 373 people, and in Mancos precinct 636. The larger portion of these people are members of families that have taken up homestead claims, and should this case go against them it would create widespread hardship. The case will be bitterly contested.

Big Fire at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 .- About 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the new building of the Chicago Athletic association on Michigan avenue. Owing to the fact that the building was still without a roof and contained large quantities of building material the fire spread with great rapidity, and at 2 a.m. had ignited the large ten-story building of the Chicago Bank-note Co. and the St. Bernard hotel, adjoining on the north and west, respectively. At 2:13 a. m. the fire was not yet under control. The walls of the Athletic club building have fallen, and the panorama of the Chicago fire, adjoining it on the south, has caught fire and will be destroyed. No estimate of the loss can be made at
